Survivor Of Wasp Tells
Of SinkingYoung Lieutenant Jumped
Into Sea But Ran Away
From Speaking Dates

When the aircraft carrier Wasp was torpedoed and the order given to abandon ship, young Lieut. Richard Trimble, brother of Libby Trimble of the NEWS staff, did what the several hundred other fellows aboard did—sank down a rope and dropped into the Coral Sea, where he floated around for three hours until picked up by a destroyer. But while he was back at his home in Illinois recuperating while on leave and friends and relatives began making appointments for him to appear before women's clubs and other organizations to tell of his experiences, he just couldn't take it.

Cutting his visit with the homefolks short he hopped a plane and flew to Sierra Madre to spend a few days with his sister and other relatives before reporting for duty at the San Diego naval base on Friday. He had been back with his family for two weeks before the Navy announced the sinking of the Wasp. It was the first news they had of it. The young lieutenant had kept the faith—never a word about the sinking from him.

"There was nothing to tell," said the young lieutenant (he's 25) in explaining why he ran away from speaking engagements in his hometown. "The ship was torpedoed three times, was in flames and we just had to do the natural thing we had been trained to do—take to the water." But he had more to say about the highly touted Japanese Zero planes.

"They're fast and more maneuverable than most of our planes," he said, "but give me most any American plane any time. They're built to stand the gaff and will get you back to a landing no matter how badly shot up your ship may be. The Zeros, on the other hand, take fire and blow up the minute they are hit. All our flyers feel the same way about it."

Frothing what he had to say about dependability of American planes Trimble told of a Marine flyer sent home to recuperate who came back to the States on the same vessel with him. The Marine got back to his Guadalcanal base after his plane was hit by 204 machine gun bullets and twice by cannon fire. Two cylinders were shot off his engine and the glasses off his nose—but he got back. Next night a Jap bomb landed in the tent he was sleeping in with four other Marines. Two were killed and the flyer suffered from shell shock.

Lieut. Trimble was in the ready room 40 feet above the water line when the Wasp was hit. All the men there rushed for their fire stations and on their way many were thrown on their faces as two more torpedoes struck. One put the fire fighting equipment out of commission and fires started by the charges couldn't be controlled.

"Flames soon reached the ship's magazine and the five-inch shells began going off—then a 1000-pound baby exploded and we were ordered to abandon ship," said Trimble. "By this time everyone had his life-belt strapped on and we began sliding down ropes into the sea. I was lucky enough to bump up against a life-raft that 14 other fellows were hanging onto for all they were worth. I didn't mind being in the water—the sea was luke-warm—but there was a burned seaman lying in the middle of our raft and to have to listen to the poor fellows' groans and not be able to help him, was torture."

"We saw the Wasp heel over and slide beneath the sea less than an hour after the first torpedo hit. We drifted for something like three hours—over 200 hundred miles from land—until a destroyer began taking men from the water. The rescue work was finished just before dark."

Gas Rationing May
Cripple Civilian
Defense Units

Efforts to secure sufficient gasoline to keep civilian defense organizations intact are being made by the Los Angeles Defense Council, according to Harold W. Kennedy, executive director.

Following a joint meeting of the City and County Defense Councils where officials pointed out that unless some relief is given defense corps workers in the matter of gas rationing the entire structure of civilian defense will be crippled, Kennedy was instructed to prepare the proper requests and forward them to gas rationing boards.

War Activities Of Local Kiwanians
Win Appreciation

As a token of appreciation of the fact that every member of the Sierra Madre Kiwanis Club is enrolled with some unit of the local Civilian Defense organization, the Civilian Defense Council at a meeting Tuesday evening voted to present the club with a specially arranged American flag on which will appear names of the club members and the defense activity with which they are associated arranged in V shape over the center of the flag.

Rent Control
Registration
Under Way

Efforts to secure permission for the registration in Sierra Madre of local residents owning rental properties as provided by the rent control regulations of the Office of Price Administration have so far been unavailing, though quarters have been selected and personnel for the registration have volunteered their services. Repeated inquiries by Mayor Tom Schwartz as to whether the city would be permitted to enroll its own registrants without the necessity of going through the Pasadena rent control office have been answered only with the statement that the matter was being considered.

Now that the missing registration blanks have finally been located and it is at last definitely known that this city is in the area attached to the Pasadena control office at 96 East Colorado street, the registration is under way and will continue for at least a month.

Persons coming within the regulations, which means anyone having a house or even a garage or room that is rented, are not required to appear in person to secure either the registration form or to file it. They may write the board at the above address and the form will be sent them. It may then be filled out, signed, and returned by mail.

A warning was issued by OPA yesterday advising that any agreements or understandings not contained in leases or verbal agreements between landlords and tenants that were in effect March 1 are invalid. This warning came as a result of the discovery of many trick clauses in leases invented by landlords to circumvent the regulations.

Army OK's Rose
Bowl Football Game
New Year's Day

A letter received by the Pasadena Tournament of Roses Association yesterday from the Army's Western Defense Command assured that there will be no New Year's Day, barring favorable war developments. The letter said the Army had no objection to the game being played, but that final permission must be given by Governor Olson.

One of three eastern teams—Boston College, University of Georgia and Georgia Tech, all undefeated, will represent the East. Just which one will not be determined until after the two Georgia teams meet November 28. The west coast team will not be selected until after the UCLA-SC game in the Coliseum December 12. Washington State leads the Western Conference and UCLA ranks second.

If the schools selected agree, net proceeds of the New Year's game will be turned over to the Army and Navy relief funds.

Oppose Extension
Of Rosemead Blvd.

First organized opposition to the extension of Rosemead boulevard as proposed by the Los Angeles County Supervisors came when the Altadena Citizens Association voted Monday evening to oppose it to the bitter end. This group opposes the plan because it believes parts of one or two strictly residential streets would be utilized to carry the extension through to Flintridge.

Admission To Scrap
Happy Party Will Be Paid In Scrap

Its "bring some scrap or you can't get in" at the Scrap Happy party to be given Friday evening by the Sierra Madre Camp Fire Girls in the upstairs rooms of the Woman's clubhouse. Invitations have been issued to sponsors and mothers of all groups and the admission price will be scrap metal, rubber or cans of grease which will be turned over to the Civilian Defense salvage committee. Dividing responsibility of the party each group has prepared one feature of the evening.

New Library
Directors
Take Places

Appointment of E. D. Burbank of 42 East Carter avenue, and W. L. Stanton, former Cal-Tech athletic director, as directors of the Sierra Madre Public Library Board have been confirmed by the city council, effective at once. They will fill vacancies created by the resignations of W. W. Alley, board president, who has served for approximately 14 years, and William L. Burr, a member for four years. War activities made the resignations of Alley and Burr necessary. Mr. Alley is associated with the San Francisco office of the Defense Housing Administration. Mr. Burr, former manager of the local Edison Co. office, is serving with the Army Welfare division of the Red Cross and has been in the field with troops. It is expected he will shortly be with an Army contingent overseas.

Holdover members of the board are C. W. Bowen, Miss Martha Pritchard and Dr. R. C. Simpson.

City Given A
99 Mark For
Its Dimout

Sierra Madre was given a rating of 99 plus for conformance with the Army dimout regulations when the deadline for compliance by municipal governments was reached November 12. It was required that cities should shield or paint their street lighting and other fixtures to a point below the light bulbs by that date. When the lights were turned on last Thursday evening it was found that workmen assigned to the task of shielding street lights here had overlooked three in the extreme northern area of the city, adjoining the Angeles forest border. These were promptly hooded Friday.

And another week had passed without a single citation being issued to a resident or business house for failure to comply. Sierra Madre being one of very few Southern California cities to establish such a record.

F. H. Hartman III
With Pneumonia At
Monrovia Hospital

F. H. Hartman, well-known Sierra Madre druggist, is at the Monrovia Hospital suffering from a light case of pneumonia with heart complications. Although he is slowly improving it is expected that he will remain in the hospital at least another week, a necessity owing to the shortage of nurses here. He is now able to receive a few callers.

Sale Of Three Homes
Here Announced

The office of J. C. Loomis, local realtor, reports recent real estate sales of $20,000 in Sierra Madre. The homes of Dr. L. L. Krebs, 65 East Sierra Madre blvd.; Mrs. H. R. Allen, 289 E. Grand View ave., and Mr. and Mrs. Tibbals, 219 Morton ave., were sold.

Over the Top by New Year's Is the Plea of Secretary Morgenthau

November 13, 1942

As of today twenty-one million American workers are investing eight per cent of their salary—every pay day—in United States War Savings Bonds. This is a very remarkable tribute to our armed forces who are fighting this war. But this job is only two-thirds accomplished.

There are nine million additional American workers who are not investing in War Bonds every pay day.

This appeal is directed to two groups of Americans:

First—the twenty-one million people who are investing eight per cent of their wages. We ask them to increase their investment to ten per cent or more.

Second—the other nine million whom we ask to join the Payroll Savings Plan and to invest ten per cent or more of their earnings.

It is our earnest hope here at the Treasury Department that by New Year's Day thirty million Americans will be investing ten per cent or more of their wages in War Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan.

Henry Morgenthau Jr.
SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY

Youngsters Break
Loose With Delayed
Hallowe'en Pranks

Reports of delayed Hallowe'en pranks featured the police blotter this week. The city's youngsters who had been congratulated by the police for their orderly observance of Hallowe'en broke loose all over the city. Among the many complaints were that tires on automobiles had been deflated, that bicycle tires had been slashed with a knife and that youngsters were letting streams from garden hose fly at pedestrians. "Guess we'll have to look up a few of them to check the epidemic," observed Police Chief McMillan.

Reject Many Local Men
In The DraftOnly Third Of 25 Called In November Reported Accepted—Big Quota Coming

Authentic information on the subject was not available at the local draft board yesterday but it was reliably reported that nearly two-thirds of the 25 Sierra Madreans ordered to report for military service on the last draft call had been rejected by Army medical examiners at the induction center. This would be the highest percentage of rejections yet reported by any California draft board. High blood pressure was assigned as the principal cause of rejections among the older men called. Several were turned back because of minor ailments that are expected to respond readily to treatment, when the men will probably be called again.

That such a large number of local men were excused at this time may mean that the December call will be particularly heavy on Sierra Madre and since the local board's 1A classification has been exhausted it seems probable that there will be a further deep dip into the ranks of the married men without dependents.

None of the 18 and 19-year old youths subject to military service under the amendment to the selective service act adopted by Congress last week are expected to be called until after the first of the year. It is expected that 1 and some may be included in the January call, reducing the number of married men it will be necessary to induct in order to meet the quota assigned this area at that time.

Light Rain Drops
Temperatures

A light rain Sunday (second of the season) that left only .001 of an inch of precipitation chased away the summer-like weather Sierra Madreans had been enjoying, dropping the temperature to a minimum of 43 Sunday night. For the week temperatures have been:

Scrap Drive
Finds Tons
Of RubberSchool Children Round Up
Huge Tire Pile—December
Collections To Be Big

Tons of rubber, mostly worn out tires, that were overlooked during the initial rubber drive, are turning up here now and will find its way to the nation's growing rubber scrap pile with the next salvage collection on Monday, December 6.

Nearly two tons of it will go out before that time, however, from the yard of St. Rita's parochial school. The youngsters there, encouraged by Rev. Leo Scheibel who works with them, are pursuing the junk campaign vigorously, gathering in all manner of scrap in addition to metals. They have a huge pile of rags in addition to their rubber heap and scrap metal pile and are constantly on the hunt.

"We have really gone into the junk business in a big way," said Father Scheibel, "for our boys and girls have come to realize how vital castoff rubber and metal is to winning the war and how desperately everything they can gather in is needed for conversion into war materials. They rightly believe they are doing their part to win the war and are putting all they've got into it."

Junk collected by the schools will be turned in independently of the stuff gathered together under direction of the Civilian Defense salvage committee, though it all goes eventually into the common pool for the same purpose. Rubber and metal piles at all the local service stations are growing rapidly and though the monthly salvage collections have been taken up for several months now, it is expected the December collection will be one of the largest yet made.

New Service
Corps Now
OrganizedMany Wartime Activities
Assigned Latest Addition
To Defense Council

The Civilian Defense Council Tuesday night set up an executive committee for the newly formed Citizens Service Corps. This group will operate within the framework of the defense organization.

Heading the new committee is Councilman John Froehlich chairman of the salvage committee. Other members are Edwin Ward, Human Resources chairman; Thomas Reynolds, Public Health and Welfare chairman; Mrs. Dedrick, Parent-Teacher Relations chairman; and Mrs. J. P. Nash, Chief of Women Air Raid Wardens.

Where the sole charge of the defense council has been the protection of the community against enemy attacks, the new service corps will have the responsibility of protecting the community against attacks from within—attacks by inefficiency, bad health, poor morale and so on. Child care services, consumer programs, nutrition services, housing programs are just a few of the many fields into which the service corps' duties will extend.

Most "Extra" Tires
Turned In Here Are Classed As Junk

When registration of local citizens for gas rationing books began yesterday Sierra Madreans had turned in more than 18 tons of extra tires so as to make themselves eligible to receive the books. They were still being received at the PE station last night and will probably continue to dribble in until the registration closes Friday.

But not nearly all of those turned in will ever be of any use to motorists again. State ration officials estimated that about 60 percent of all the casings turned in throughout the State are beyond being made useful by re-capping. This percentage should rightfully have been turned in as a part of the salvage campaign, they declared.

Employees of the American Railway Express estimated that the percentage of junk casings turned in as extra tires here was 20 higher than that set by the ration board chiefs. Examination of many of the tires revealed that their owners had been the victims of unscrupulous dealers who had recapped casings that could never be used, or if used endangered the lives of persons riding on them.

Roy Buchan Now
In The Army

Roy Buchan, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Buchan of 130 East Montecito ave., left for the Army Tuesday and is now temporarily stationed at Fort MacArthur.

Queries About Gas Ration Regulations Answered
By Local Board MemberMany Rush To Enroll For Gas BooksEstimate Half Of Sierra Madre Motorists Registered First Day

Long queues of motorists lined up in the grammar school building from 9 o'clock yesterday morning until 8 in the evening waiting their turn to register for gasoline ration coupon books. It was the first day of the three-day registration period and they kept a large clerical staff busy until closing time. It was estimated that about half of the city's car owners had signed up.

Many first-day registrants appeared without having filled out the registration form and some without so much as having carefully read them. This delayed the work considerably and necessitated many persons standing in line and losing valuable time. As a result of this Dr. A. O. Pritchard, local member of the gasoline rationing panel of the area price and ration board, asked that everyone presenting themselves for registration have their blanks completed and signed and refrain from asking questions concerning rationing or arguing about the necessity for it, thus taking the time of registrars whose only duty is to accept the completed forms.

Each registrant will be issued a windshield sticker indicating whether he or she has an A, B or C book. Occupations of the C book holders will be indicated on the stickers when issued, so that all may know the approximate mileage the holders are entitled to.

Elsewhere in this issue of the NEWS Dr. Pritchard gives important information concerning the registration which will continue at the grammar school between the hours of 9 a.m. and 8 p.m. today and tomorrow.

County School Head
Will Address PTA

A meeting of the Sierra Madre PTA scheduled for Thursday, November 19, has been postponed until 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, November 24, in the school cafeteria. The change is being made to avoid interference with the issuance of gas ration books. This has necessitated a change of speakers on the panel discussion. Mrs. Marie Hughes, curriculum coordinator of Los Angeles county, has been substituted for Bernard Lonsdale.

Parents and friends are invited to take part in the discussion which will follow the panel speakers.

It's common sense to be thrifty. If you save you are thrifty. War Bonds help you to save and help to save America. Buy your ten per cent every pay day.

"Pie-tainer," Invention Of Sierra Madrean,
May Bring Joy To Millions Of Workers

Watching the thousands of workers at Kaiser shipyards in the San Francisco bay plants as they ate their luncheon gave H. F. Noake of Manzanita avenue, an idea that may bring untold joy to millions of toilers and school students who carry their lunches. He has invented a "pie-tainer."

Enjoying a high batting average as a consumer of pie, particularly the highly ornamented meringued lemon and other fragile, frilly custard varieties and the noble creations topped with scads of luscious whipped cream, his thoughts naturally turned toward pies. And his heart sank within him as day after day he saw workers unwrap waxed paper packages to get into gooey, sticky messes that had once been inviting cuts of the great American favorite—pie.

Bad enough to see the top crusted apple, mince and berry varieties all mashed flat and the inside goodness plastered all over the wrappers so that when workers began to consume them they got as much pie into their ears as into their mouths, said Mr. Noake. But when he saw the frightful condition in which his favorite custards and meringues came out of their containers he decided something should be done about it.

He was giving the subject much thought as his car rolled south from Richmond a few days ago and the idea came—like a bolt out of the blue. Going to his Manzanita avenue home he made a model out of cardboard and adhesive tape, shaped exactly like a man-sized slab of pie. Then he cut another piece of cardboard with a little tag at the wide end that slipped right into the wedge-shaped container.

Tells How Motorists Must Qualify For Issuance Of
Coveted "C" BooksBy Dr. A. O. Pritchard
Sierra Madre Member Gas
Rationing Panel of Area
Rationing Board

For the first time in history our government is compelled to ration the whole people on some of their necessities. We must therefore expect delays, experimentation and a gradual adjustment to the complex problems which will arise in such a vast territory populated with close to 150,000,000 people.

The problem now is gasoline and many questions arise. Let us try to answer some of them.

(1) Can every one owning a car get an "A" book?

Yes, if he has disposed of all but five tires to each car and registered the number of his tires.

(2) How much is an "A" book good for?

For 8 coupons for each two months, at four gallons per coupon.

(3) May I use more than one coupon at a time?

Yes.

(4) Is it possible to carry over coupons from one period of two months to another?

No.

(5) Can coupons be interchanged from one car to another?

No.

(6) Where does one get an "A" book?

At the schoolhouse on Thursday and Friday of this week or at the War Ration Board, 126 S. Myrtle Ave., Monrovia, any week day.

(7) How can one get extra coupons, in a "B" or "C" book?

An application blank, to be obtained at the schoolhouse, must be filled out and mailed to the War Ration Board, 126 South Myrtle, Monrovia.

(8) Who can get a "B" book?

Those whose occupational requires that they drive over 150 miles per month, who carry passengers and who cannot be served by public transportation. None but workers can get a "B" book.

(9) Who may get a "C" book?

Those whose occupational driving requires over 470 miles per month, who will carry passengers and who cannot be served by public transportation or who fall within the preferred lists as doctors, defense workers, etc.

(10) When does the rationing go into effect?

As soon planned, Dec. 1st.

In all cases drivers must accompany their requests with figures as to mileage and must comply with rules regarding inspection of tires. These rules I will speak of next week.

All rationing of gasoline has been based on the necessity of conserving rubber in order to win the war, keep the wheels of industry turning and our social economy preserved in strength and efficiency. There is no place for unnecessary driving or for careless waste. The man who saves rubber is winning the war as truly as he who enlists.

This wedge, with a little tab or handle, is the plate on which the pie rests and when it is slipped into the container and a little flap is turned up and locked, the pie is locked inside—held so that the meringue or whipped cream will not be mashed beyond recognition, or the covered varieties crushed so that the contents ooze out between the crusts.

Pretty well satisfied with his idea when converted into a gadget, Mr. Noake consulted the head of a chain store organization that operates over a thousand stores from coast to coast and sells carloads of lunch boxes and dinner buckets. The store executive was so well impressed that he agreed on the spot to take the entire output of a factory that would turn out "pie-tainers" made of plastic, to be used as standard equipment in all the lunch boxes it sells.

Patent papers were quickly dispatched to the patent office at Washington and Mr. Noake is dickering with plastic manufacturers who can get needed materials to make these boon for toilers.

"Of course," said Mr. Noake, "I'd like to see the factory located here in Sierra Madre, but maybe the job can be done faster in some plant already in operation. For I want to hurry the pie tainers into production, knowing the joy they will bring to the hearts of millions of people."

Mr. Noake, incidentally, is known over the country as author of "March of Rimes." He has completed his work at the Kaiser Richmond shipbuilding plant and has been transferred to an executive position at the huge Kaiser steel mill now nearing completion at Fontana.

PHYLLIS QUITTNER WEDS AN ARMY SERGEANT

Members of the family and a few close friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. Joseph Quittner of 241 Ramona avenue, Sunday evening, to witness the marriage of their daughter, Phyllis Harriet Quittner, to Staff Sgt. Robert R. Hochfeld. The impressive rites were performed by Rabbi David Cohen before the flower-decked fireplace.

Gowned in old rose velvet with black accessories, the bride advanced on the arm of her father to the strains of the traditional "Wedding March" by Wagner, played on the piano by her young brother Robert. She carried an old-fashioned bouquet of carnations, violets and roses. An heirloom handkerchief was tucked into her pocket and around her neck was an antique blue enameled locket.

Centering the buffet table, from which refreshments were served, was a bridal cake surrounded by a garland of autumn fruit. Among out-of-town guests present were Mrs. Helen Goldfoot of Grand Coulee, Wash., sister of the bridegroom, and Charles Glucksmann of New York City, father of Mrs. Quittner, at whose home he will remain for a short visit.

Investment of not more than $5,000,000 of surplus county funds in one and one-half per cent United States Treasury notes was ordered this week by the County Board of Supervisors. "This investment will add $50,000 annually for four years to the county's income," Supervisor Smith reports.

PJC Prepares Young Men For War Service

Pasadena Junior College is making profitable the time lost by thousands of young men between their enlistment and their call to active service. Coast Guard, Air Corps and Navy enlistment has overtaken available facilities with the result that the Los Angeles area is flooded with men who have broken home ties but must wait from 30 to 90 days before they are actually in service. With limited funds, unfamiliar environment and no opportunity for regular work as they are on 24-hour call, many have suffered a severe drop in morale. To remedy this the college is offering these young men an exceptional chance to utilize this waiting period to their advantage by enrolling in many courses in which even a very limited experience will prove of practical value.

Woman Dies While Her Favorite Music Is Being Played

Listening to the strains of one of her favorite musical selections, Beethoven's Third Trio, played by a trio of local musicians at the home of Dr. A. E. Gourdeau, at 39 Bonita avenue, Friday evening, Mrs. Florence Manvel Schaffler, 76, of 153 N. Hermosa ave., slumped over in her chair dead, victim of a heart attack.

Mrs. Schaffler was born in St. Paul, Minn., and came here several months ago from Portland, Ore. A member of the Poetry Society here, Mrs. Schaffler was related by marriage to Miss Elizabeth Page, author of "The Tree of Liberty."

She is survived by six sons, Maj. Allen Schaffler, U. S. Army; Henry Schaffler, New Britain, Conn.; Bennet Schaffler, Philadelphia, Pa.; Leslie Schaffler, Chicago, Ill.; Dr. Goodrich Schaffler, Portland, Ore., and Charles B. Schaffler, U.S. Merchant Marine.

Services were held at Grant Chapel on November 16 and interment was in Pasadena.

WE ARE FIGHTING FOR

THE RIGHT TO BE THANKFUL

For several hundred years we have taken our right to be thankful for granted. Now even that is challenged. Covetous nations have their eyes on the blessings of which we have been so proud. Now we must fight, and win, or never again have reason to give thanks. So this Thanksgiving Day, while we are expressing our gratitude for the things we still have — including our freedom — let's pledge our every effort to preserve those things for ourselves and future generations of Americans.

Wage And Salaried Employees Must Keep Books To Steer Clear Of The Law

All wage and salaried workers in Los Angeles County must begin at once to keep detailed bookkeeping records of every cent of receipts and expenditures, if they expect to avoid both unnecessary income tax payments and trouble with Uncle Sam's revenue collectors next year. The Los Angeles County Chamber of Commerce has sent a special bulletin warning its members to this effect.

"Every employer should call workers' attention at once to responsibilities under the new law, and explain to them the importance of keeping itemized accounts," it says. "The new revenue act applies to all income received this year, and any records that can be dug up now to individuals a lot of tax money. show expenditures will save in. Under the new legislation it is possible to deduct all payments made this year for state sales taxes, while medical expenses in excess of 5 percent of net are deductible on income tax returns up to a fixed amount. However, the taxpayer must be able to produce records supporting these claims for deductions.

"Unfortunately, citizens will be forced to pay unnecessary taxes next year on this year's incomes, because most individuals have not kept records of expenditures now held deductible. That makes it all the more necessary to maintain accurate accounts for the remainder of the year, and from then on throughout all the years in order to escape future penalties."

The bulletin declares that at least 19 cents out of every dollar of taxable income received this year will be taken by normal and surtaxes, with surtaxes rising steeply as income increases.

Attention is called to the "victory tax" of 5 percent that must be deducted from the paychecks of all wage earners and salaried workers beginning January 1. Part of this tax is to be returned after the war unless the taxpayer chooses to use the postwar credit to buy government bonds, pay life insurance premiums or retire debts.

THEN AND NOW

There seems a striking parallel in circumstances between the first Day of Thanksgiving held on this continent and the Day of Thanksgiving set aside in this troubled, grimly-fighting America of 1942.

The Pilgrims, even as we, looked back upon a year of anxiety and peril, a year in which the savage world about them had sought to destroy them, and had inflicted injury and death among them. And the Pilgrims, even as we, looked also back upon a year of bountiful harvest—a harvest that would feed their women and children through the hard winter ahead, and would maintain the strength of the resolute men on guard at the stockade against all enemies that might come.

The harvest for which the American people may give heartfelt thanks to Providence is many-fold. The spirit of America, which our enemies thought weak and open to disruption, has flourished since Pearl Harbor into a mighty oak of unity and will to victory that stands unshaken in the winds of hate that sweep the world. Materially, American brawn and brains and inventiveness and righteous anger have produced a harvest of steel and ships and wings of war that guarantee our ramparts against the greatest military combination that ever set out to overwhelm the world. A bountiful harvest!

There is much more to be thankful for as a nation. There are no scars of blasted cities and bomb-blackened schoolhouse ruins on our landscape. No American child need go hungry or become sick because of lack of food and the necessities of life.

Our Allies, in particular the dauntless fighting men and civilian heroes of Russia, China and Britain, stand fast beside us.

We have the means, spiritual and physical, and the friends, to survive the winter of war's travail, however long and bitter that may be, and to create a better America and a finer California when the war is over.

So let us be thankful!

What They Say ---

Dr. J. C. Geiger, San Francisco health director, commenting on sharply soaring birth rates: "Apparently the production of ships and the production of babies in shipyard workers' families are running a close race."

Lieutenant Governor Ellis E. Patterson: "If Governor Olson wants to be appointed to the State Railroad Commission, something might be arranged. I might be willing to be Governor for a few days just to take care of him."

STRIPED LAMBS

Gerald Gould Wright of the American Prison Association said in an after-dinner address: "The best prison worker I know is a dear old lady. I asked her one day to tell me the secret of her success among the prisoners, and she said it probably lay in the fact that she always remembered a saying of her father's: 'Every black sheep was somebody's pet lamb once.'"

Coffee consumption in the U. S. in the past 30 years has more than doubled, while the population increase has been only about 45 per cent.

Many Free Classes In War Activities Offered At PJC

Designed to supplement daily work of automotive mechanics, the Extended Day Division of Pasadena Junior College is offering a free course in Motor Tune-Up. It will include, among other subjects, theory and shop practice in carburetion, ignition, voltage regulation and generation. This is open only to those employed in the automotive industry. The course will meet in the West Campus, 1905 Lincoln Ave., Pasadena, on Monday and Wednesday evenings from 7 to 9 o'clock starting immediately.

Tuition-free war production classes are open at Pasadena City Schools war production center at 581 N. Garfield avenue. There is still a big demand for are welders at the ship yards and steel fabrication plants. Classes are open day and night, running on four hour shifts, starting at 6 a. m. Monday through Friday. Enrollment may be made in the class or at the U. S. Employment Agency Office, 745 E. Green Street, Pasadena.

FIRE FLAMES

By One of the Boys

After an absence of two meetings Lee Hibbs reappeared Friday and continued his duty as fine collector. He was much hurt and surprised to learn that we had discontinued the Christmas activities. He had hoped that we would have made it a twenty-year consecutive affair. Lee has been a loyal and hard worker of the fire department for many years, and a particularly big asset in the success of our Christmas work.

To repeat is a common practice of most of us and there is no harm in repeating our continuous harping on carelessness with outdoor fires. For the good of all, be careful as to weather and surroundings before lighting an outdoor fire.

DEADLINE SET FOR ESSAY CONTEST

Grammar School Supt. Gerald Smith has announced that Friday, Nov. 20, is the closing date for the 50-word essay contest on the subject, "Why I Am Buying War Bonds and Stamps," sponsored by the Kiwanis Club for boys and girls in the 6th, 7th and 8th grades.

The.... Watch Tower

By Perley Poore Sheehan

A GOOD DEAL of indignation has been wasted, we believe, over the way General Eisenhower has apparently honored the Vichy Admiral Darlan—first, according to the press, our prisoner, then our guest, and finally, with General Eisenhower's blessing on what was originally a Vichy appointment, Military Governor of North Africa. Which was something, to be sure, to shock not only public opinion in both America and Britain but the minds and hearts of Vichy-haters everywhere—until, that is, the seemingly outrageous could be dispassionately considered. Darlan, "the second most detested man in France," he who had sent hundreds of helpless refugees to death or protracted torture—indifferently, whether Jew or Christian, French or non-French, so long as these were displeasing either to his own convenience or that of his Nazi overlords! How could such a thing have happened?

IN THE first place, Darlan—and most of the other rats now fleeing the Vichy ship—are of a generation not far removed from that former period of a German occupation. Their fathers or their grandfathers have told them. How, after the Germans left Paris in 1871; after the nightmare fall of the Second Empire and the siege of Paris—a period much like that today's Parisians have come to know, a period compounded of popular fury and despair, treason, stupidity, and heartless politics. Their fathers or their grandfathers have told them what ensued. And that was what some called "the Second Terror," but known in the history-books as "the Paris Commune." A massacre. A people's purge by club and torch, by knife and gun. Such as France makes ready for again... If we were one of those Vichy rats we'd run too.

BUT that is for the French—not us. General Eisenhower is not deceived. He obviously would know everything concerning Darlan and his Vichy connections it would be fit to know. And it is fair to believe that the only consideration that weighed with him was how best to do this thing he'd been given to do. Darlan could serve this end. Scattered still all over French Africa, as well as in Metropolitan France, were many thousands of Frenchmen who still—unbelievable as it would seem—were possessed of the idea that Vichy had been right and that Vichy still could save them. These Frenchmen were a fact somehow personified in Darlan. By putting the fact among our assets, as General Eisenhower did, instead of among our already infinite liabilities, might he not save lives and shorten the war beyond all calculation? As for Darlan—just Darlan!—France could attend to him later—and to Laval, and Doriot, and all the rest. When? When France should live again!

SO that you could almost imagine a vision as having appeared to the American commander of our Great Armada some night; say, after he'd first been entertaining the unspeakable Darlan, as a prisoner, then "as a guest"—having done this latter in obedience to some inner prompting which even he might not have been quite able to explain; knowing Darlan for what he was; not a forthright fighting sailor man in the Far-ragut or Nelson tradition; not even decently tanned, but sallow, whitish, soft; the sea-lawyer, what!—and a traitor; a virus, in the pollution of a France which Eisenhower himself had always loved, and whose language he spoke, but which now lay murdered and rotting as in a Nazi tomb.

AND THEN, this vision of Jesus at the tomb of Lazarus. Wasn't Lazarus a personification also of this miracle that was pending now? France had long been sick. The whole world knew—as none had known it better than France herself. And then the world had said that France was dead. Dead? But she wasn't dead. She slept. She would live again—yes, and equally for the glory of the Lord. Et vive la France éternelle!

OR if not our General Eisenhower who had this vision—or one somewhat like it—why not some one of his officers?—or any one of those boys who crowd his transports?—aware, each or all of them, how the dawn of this next morning would be, perhaps, the dawn of a foretold glory. This was no mere convoy to another of the countless battles in the history of the world. This was the pilgrimage to a miracle. The Spirit of Truth was again manifest on the face of the earth. It was saying: "Lazarus, come forth!"—not only to France—who knows?—but to the whole Brotherhood of Nations.

There were 112 makes of cars manufactured in January, 1919, says a report by the commission Dept. Of this number 95 were not made in 1936.

A check by the Indiana state police revealed that traffic deaths in that state have decreased 61 per cent since the 35 mile edict went into effect.

State Controller Harry B. Riley has just announced that California's combined income from all sources in the fiscal year ended last June 30 totaled $345,443,602 largest in the State's history. It represented a per capita income of $50.01 and averaged $946,421 a day.

oe tveLee!

From office boy to president, all 171 employees of an abandoned shipyard have offered to work without pay for 60 days to get the plant into wartime production. "We would rather work for Uncle Sam for two months for nothing than for perhaps the rest of our lives for Hitler," said a spokesman.

THINGS TO COME: A soapless soap which, claims the developer, permits washing frying pans in cold water, keeps rings off the bath tub, and when used with a vitamin preparation, makes cakes lighter and adds vitamins... Brown sugar that won't become sticky or lumpy, permitting it to be packed in ordinary cartons. ## This man is the reason you should avoid Holiday Travel

Now, of all times, it is important for you to ask yourself candidly: "Do I have to take that trip?"

For now, and until early January, is the time for holiday furloughs. Those tanned, clean-looking boys with their freshly-pressed uniforms you see at our ticket windows will only have a few days at home with their folks this year. And while many men in uniform will not "come home for Christmas," their home folks, in many cases, will visit them, and this means a lot to the boys who stay in camp.

War's tremendous transportation demands—in carrying troops and war materials as well as civilians—have strained all railroad facilities to the utmost. Frankly, we're worried about the holiday season ahead. We know, as you do, that a furlough at home does something fine for a soldier. (And no one denies he's earned it.) But, to state the facts baldly, we can't carry the civilian holiday-takers and furloughing soldiers and sailors, too.

With such a good reason, most folks won't find a "sacrifice" in canceling a holiday trip. And if you're one of these, the thousands of us here at S.P. will give you a cheer. For railroad people aren't making holiday pleasure trips either.

So please write your family and friends you have changed your plans... that there's a lad in uniform who needs your seat to see his folks before he travels overseas—and needs it worse than you do. For, of course, you wouldn't want to take his seat when he tries to go home on his holiday furlough.

What effect has the war on the supply of fuel gas in Southern California?

This winter the problem is to deliver the huge volume of gas needed in wartime—through a network of pipelines which was designed for peacetime.

LIKE rubber, steel, aluminum and other essentials, natural gas is now an important war worker. So, until Victory, your gas company is pledged to keep essential war industry in uninterrupted production—even if this should make it necessary to ask our civilian customers to use less gas at certain times.

Fortunately the reserve supply of natural gas in Southern California and our delivery facilities are the greatest known in history—fully adequate, we think, barring certain temporary emergencies (such as extreme weather conditions) to take care of war-work as well as civilian requirements. However, the demand for gas in this area has grown and is still growing (new population...new war production) and this brings us to the fact that the vast network of steel pipe through which gas must travel to reach war industries and your home cannot be expanded—because the steel required to do so is more vitally needed on other fronts!

WHAT IS THIS LIKELY TO MEAN TO YOU?

You may be asked to use less gas for household heating during certain "peak-load" periods. The manner in which you could save gas and thereby help to reduce the "peak load" in such a possible emergency is described in a "Wartime Fuel Gas Emergency Manual" which is now being prepared for mailing. Your cooperation in such an emergency will be a war service of vital importance.
